

Summer Writing Camp with Denver Writes!

9am-5pm, Monday-Friday (Back Space)
10am-2pm, Monday-Friday (Bookbar)

Back Space at Metropolis Coffee (1 S. Broadway, Denver 80209) & Bookbar

(4280 Tennyson St., Denver 80212)

For lovers of writing

Denver Writes is proud to present our eighth annual, highly-requested, always-entertaining Summer Writing camp! This summer we're offering four camps – three themes, two locations!

Write Your Memoir @ BookBar
June 12-16 for ages 8-12

One and Done: One-Act Plays @ Back Space
June 19-23 for ages 11-15

Fantastic Fairy Tales and How To Write Them @ Back Space
July 10-14 for ages 8-11
July 17-21 for ages 12-15

These camps are for kids, like you, who like to write. You don't have to be good at writing, you certainly don't have to get good grades in writing, and we accept all kinds of handwriting, but you must LIKE TO WRITE. Otherwise, things might be a drag.

Our home base is at Back Space (below Metropolis Coffee) at 1 S. Broadway. We also will go on field trips to places throughout Denver that have inspired writers -- and all types of people -- to express themselves in positive ways with the best words they could find.

Finally, we will publish a book (online and physical editions will be available) that you help author. We want you to see new things, think new thoughts, and then write new stories to share with the world.

Join us, if you dare. Space is limited!

If you like to think ...

If you like
to create ...

If you like
to write ...

Then come with us
for a week of

How much does camp cost? Parents: if this fee is a burden for you, we do offer scholarships.

Camp costs $200 for each student for camps at Back Space. Camps at Bookbar will be $200 for each student (cost includes five lunches, and the cost of bookbinding). We are offering scholarships and partial scholarships for camps.

How long is camp?

Camp will be from 9-5, Monday through Friday at Back Space. Camp will be held from 10-2 at Bookbar. It is important that you stick with us all five days. Don't show up more than 15 minutes before camp begins, or stay more than 15 minutes after camp ends, because adults need more sleep than even y'all do.

Do I have to bring my own food?

For camps at Back Space, we will have limited quantities of snacks. We suggest that you bring a water bottle, just in case. You will need to bring your own lunch, except for Friday -- lunch will be on us! For Camps at Bookbar, lunch will be provided by Bookbar all five days. Because Bookbar is a venue that serves food, we ask that no outside food be brought in. Water, of course, is fine! We can accommodate allergies with advanced notice.

Will we stay in the same place all of the time?

Never! We believe that writers need to experience as much of the world as possible so that they can feed their imaginations AND write stuff about the world. We will go on a field trip most days. This means that you need to wear clothes and shoes that are comfortable and modest (no flip-flops), and sunscreen. You should probably bring a backpack and an umbrella or parasol for extra protection from the elements.

Can I bring a friend/sister/brother/parent/pet?

We would love to have friends/sisters/brothers if they turn their own applications in on time, and convince us they really want to go. Parents, grandparents, guardians, and pets are not really part of this. Prepare yourself to meet new people! Oh -- a warning. If cell phones become a problem, we will ask you to turn them off or not bring them. Be independent!

Who are the adults who will be hanging out with us?

The adults will be Denver Writes volunteers. Many of them will be teachers on summer break, or college students, or adults who just really like to write and hang out with kids. All of them will be fun and knowledgeable. Parents: our volunteers are background-checked and kids are never left alone with a volunteer in a private place.

How many kids can participate, and how will those kids be chosen?

We would like to take all of the kids in the world who love writing, but we cannot yet make sure that we have enough adults to work with each student. We will take the first fifteen kids who turn in their applications, completed, with tuition, and with really good answers to our questions.

Where and how do I turn in my application?

What a great question! You can do one of three things:

1. You can mail it to us: PO Box 9093, Denver, CO 80209.
2. You can scan the application and email it to us at hello@denverwrites.org and send tuition check to PO Box 9093, Denver CO 80209
3. You can drop your application off along with your tuition check at Metropolis Coffee (1 S Broadway, Denver, 80209) or at Bookbar (4280 Tennyson Street, Denver 80212).

How will I know if I my application is accepted?

We will call or email you one to two weeks after reviewing your application deadline to let you know if you will be one of our 15 writers.

If I get in, what comes next?

We will send you ANOTHER information packet a few weeks before camp, and we will probably call you, too. You'll get to know us.

What is your cancellation policy? What if we win a trip to Disney World?

For camp, if you tell us you cannot come at least a week before camp begins, we will refund your tuition because we can give your spot to another kid. If you let us know less than a week before camp begins, then we will keep your payment (unless there's an emergency, of course).

What if I have more questions? Email us at hello@denverwrites.org.

Student and Parent/Guardian Agreements & Liability Form

Part Three:

What We Expect & Liability Form

Students are the most important part of Denver Writes Summer Writing Camp, and we expect our students to be the best writers and people that they can be. We ask all students and their parents to agree to our expectations below so that we can all enjoy the opportunities that Denver Writes strives to provide.

STUDENT AGREEMENT:

I agree to work with the group on all projects and assignments while at Summer Writing Camp. If I finish before others, I agree not to act in a way that might disrupt others or keep them from working. I agree to respect the other students, the volunteers, and the staff of Denver Writes and Metropolis Coffee. I agree to follow the reasonable directions of all staff and volunteers of Denver Writes. I agree to listen to others and to respect their opinions, even if they are different from my own. I agree to arrive at camp on time and leave on time. I understand that if I do not follow this agreement, I will be asked to leave, my parents/guardians will be called to pick me up, and I will not be able to participate in camp anymore.

Student Name (please print): _____ Student Signature: _____ Date: _____

PARENT/GUARDIAN AGREEMENT:

I would like my student to participate in Denver Writes Summer Writing Camp, and I agree with the expectations of each student. I hereby certify that, to the best of my knowledge, the statements in this application are true and correct. I give Denver Writes permission to assess my child's academic skills. I give my child permission to participate in Denver Writes Summer Writing Camp and will ensure that he/she attends the program Monday through Friday, June 12-16, June 19-23, July 10-14, July 17-21, 2017. I understand that failure to attend by the second day of camp will result in the forfeiture of my child's place in the program to a student on the waiting list, as well as the forfeiture of my payment. I understand that I am responsible for updating all contact information and parent guardianship, should they change prior to or during the course of the camp. I understand that my child will be undertaking certain activities, including walking on city streets, hiking through parks, taking public transportation, or riding in a rental van, and that he/she can undertake those activities successfully. I understand that written communication expresses personal opinions, and that writing produced at camp is not necessarily the opinion of Denver Writes. I understand that Denver Writes, Metropolis Coffee, and Bookbar cannot assume responsibility for injury or death and I agree to hold harmless Denver Writes, their directors, officers, employees, and volunteers, from any liabilities, demands, or claims for damage.

Written Essay To Prove YOU Want to Come to Camp!

Part Six:

Show us your writing!
Answer
this question, and don't forget to edit your work!

So, the most important part about our camp is that you want to be here. We don't want you to come because your parents want you to come. We want you to come because you like to write and explore the world. This is your chance to demonstrate that to us! Type or handwrite your answer to this question, attach it to this sheet, and make sure you read the statement below and sign this sheet, too.

Please answer this:

Imagine you wake up in a place you've never been. Describe the place. It could be a town you've never visited, a house you've never seen, even a planet that's yet to be discovered. How did you get there? What objects do you have with you? Who do you meet? Tell us what you would do for food, how you would brave being in a foreign place and any other details you think are important. In other words, tell us your adventure!

Please note: You can come up with your own adventure scenario...a town you've never visited, a house you've never seen or a planet that's yet to be discovered are only suggestions. Have fun!

See below.

I wrote this all by myself and promise to put forth the same amount of thought and effort at Summer Writing Camp!
